1	This was very evident when speaking with the teachers who all appeared to be very committed to doing their best to provide support and encouragement.	12/5/2019 12:33 PM
2	I do however have some concerns that some of the teaching faculty do not understand how ---- deals with pressure. Telling someone who suffers from anxiety "Not to Stress" or "I expect an A" is not really helpful.... This requires quite a lot of undoing at home.	12/5/2019 11:43 AM

1	I did feel last year (-----'s 4th year) that perhaps more could have been done/discussed surrounding her mental health and well being. It was during parents evening that one of her teachers raised concerns around -----'s mental well being regarding the stress and pressure ----- felt from school/exam preparation. However, this wasn't brought to my attention beforehand. I would add that the teacher in question who raised this concern went above and beyond in providing ----- with appropriate support in relation to -----'s health and well being (this was Miss Miller, Art).	12/4/2019 6:31 PM
